BEATS HIS MOTHER; SON IN JAIL

Charged with attacking and beating his aged mother, Frank Logan, was arrested last night by Constable Davis of Stege and placed in the Richmond city jail. Logan resisted arrest and it was only after a struggle that he was finally subdued. This is the second time within two weeks that Logan has been arrested on the charge. Mrs. Mary Logan, the mother, who is seventy-seven years of age refused to swear out a complaint on the first charge. Last night, however, the aged woman, with tears streaming down her cheeks, swore to the warrant charging her son with battery.

Logan who is a silicitor for a photograph company, has been in trouble with the police on numerous occasions. He entered the home of his mother at Kearney near Fairmount streets shortly after 5 o'clock last night. Angered over some trivial matter, he attacked his mother. Neighbors, hearing her screams summoned Constable Davis, who arrived in time to prevent the son from seriously injuring his aged parent.

Heroic efofrts to restore the use of the arm are being made by the physicians in charge of the case.

COUNTY LINE IS WRECKED BY LADS: 'TWAS HOLLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en was celebrated with great enthusiasm but little wisdom on the part of a number of young lads in various parts of the city. When residents at the county line left their domiciles Sunday morning, many were under the impression that a couple of tornadoes a tidal wave and a hundred Krupp guns had been battering at the district. Ten young lads were taken up by Constable Davis and upon their promises to return things to their original position, were released. A number of local lads used hatchets to advantage on several trees.

OFFER OF $500,000 FOR AVIATOR PATENT; REFUSED

Failing to have a complete patent on a new automatic Stabalizer, invented by N. B. Converse of Fresno, has cost W. H. Kelly of this city a large part of $500,000. Kelly is the principal stock holder in the Converse Automatic Stabalizer company. The company was recently offered $500,000 for 50 of the machines. They refused, fearing that they would lose the patent on the invention. The machine makes it almost impossible for an aviator to have an accident. It balances the machine in the air at even keel and in one instance saved an aviator's life when his engine exploded.

"We have patents in England, Russia, Germany and France" said oKlly yesterday "as well as in the United States. This invention, I am confident will prove a great benefit to aviators."

According to the plans, the building will be constructed so as to allow for further additions. Last night's meeting was called for the special purpose of considering the question.

BOX CAR AND HOWARD ARE ENEMIES

Accompanied by a look of deep disgust and a very elucidating but uncomplimentary opinion of railroads in general, Howard French, Richmond's famous benedict and fan arrived Sunday from Los Angeles. He arrived just too late for the game. Howard left Los Angeles Saturday night with the intention of getting to Richmond on time to see the game. But a box car sprained its axel or something and the whole line was held up for four hours.

"Tough luck is right," said French last night. "I think I'll sure the durn railroad company for damagers."

Howard was in Los Angeles on business for the Standard Oil company.

TAXPAYERS PROTEST ON PROPOSED TAXATION

Protests against the paving of the inner section of Ashland and Cutting boulevard near the entrance of the municipal tunnel were received by the council last night from property owners in the vicinity. The protestants objected to the clause dealing with the resolution of intent which provides for an assessment district to pay for the improvements.

Heading the protestants was H. W. Wernse, of the Point Rihcmond Land and Canal company who argued that the street work at that point was near the tunnel highway and that its paving meant a direct benefit to the entire city. He declared that the payment should be made out of the tunnell and harbor funds

Other objections were also made by the John Nicholl Co. the Santa Fe railway company and twelve property owners.

The matter was laid over for one week and city engineer H. D. Chapman was instructed to submit the cost for the improvement.

PHONE MAN BALKS AT CERTAIN POINTS

In speaking before the city council last night, District Superintendent Moore of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company intimated that the company would balk at certain provisions in the franchise proposed by the city. The principal section of the franchise odious to the telephone interests was that providing for 25 telephones free with an increase if two additional phones each year. Moore declared that the company would not stand for more than 25 phones.

The point was raised whether one city or company should pay the cost of advertising for the franchise bids. The underground condition in the franchise, copied from the Alameda franchise was declared too drastic. The final draft of the franchise will be made next Monday evening.

DOESN'T PAY TO STEAL FOR FOOD

"I stole because I was hungary," told Fred Fletcher a bricklayer told Judge Ogden in Oakland yesterday. And the judge answered: "It is a reflection on society that such men as you are forced to act like this. I will let you off with a lenient sentence." The "lenient sentence" was two and one half years in San Quentin. All of which emphasizes the point that it is much more polite and safer to break open a bank.

UNEMPLOYMENT ON THE COAST

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor presents for publication summary results of the third study in the series of investigations being made into unemployment. This study which was undertaken for the bureau by the Metrpolitan life Insurance Company, includes 12 cities in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States.

The results of the survey of unemployment in New York City made in January, 1915, by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company tallied very closely with the results obtained from an independent study made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Because the information on unemployment thus collected for New York was believed to be trustworthy and representative, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was employed by the Commissioner of Labor Statistics to make studies in these 12 additional cities. The canvass was made during June and July, 1915, and followed the same lines as the Metropolitan's study of unemployment in New York city and vicinity, as published in Bulletin 172 of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The families holding industrial policies in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are visited by agents of that company, and the number of partly and wholly unemployed was ascertained. The information thus collected is to appear shortly as a bulletin of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

WOULD CURB EXAMINATIONS

The Ohio State Federation of Labor convention, in session last week, called the attention of the State Industrial Commission to the practice of employers relative to physicial examinations. The unionists declared as they throw out of employment many who are fitted to certain classes of work. President Voll and Secretary-Treasurer Donnelly were re-elected. Toledo was selected as the next convention city.

RESULTS OF MOTHERS' PENSIONS

At Oklahoma City, Okla., County Judge Zwick says the mothers' persion law, in force in that State, has "opened my eyes to a wonderful amount of misery and decrepitude" because of the large number of women who cannot be aided by the law which provides that a widow must have a continues two years' residence in a county before making application or her husband must be either dead or in prison or asylum.

COMPANY WANTED TO KNOW

Officers of the Duckworth Chain and Manufacturing Company of Springfield, Mass., had a suspicion that their employees were becoming inoculated with the eight-hour germ so common in this vicinity. Tto satisfy itself the management posted a notice in the shop requesting employees to vote "yes" if they intended to strike if an eight-hour demand was refused, and to vote "no" if they were willing to wait until June 1st, next year. By a vote of over 33 to 1 the employees declared for a 48-hour week and a strike if the demand was not granted. This emphatic declaration failed to convince the company and its employees struck. Last Monday the management concluded these workers were really in earnest and announced that the 48-hour week would be granted, and wage scales readjusted.

AT THE RICHMOND

Today will be the last opportunity to see Miss Edith Storey in Cyrus Townsend Brady's fantastic play "The Island of Regeneration," which has been hailed everywhere by critics as a masterpiece and which delighted the hundreds who saw it last night.

The scene of the play is laid in an uninhabitated island of the south Pacific ocean and Miss Storey makes her first appearance on the film a castaway who at the end of three years had been reduced to a dress of grass. To those who view Miss Storey idly bathing in an apparantly tropical sea it would be a surprise to know that the scene was being actually photographed in almost zero weather.

"The scenes showing the interior of the Island cave were taken in a tent pitched on the studio grounds, in order to get the proper light effect. The thermometer was around the zero point, and dressed as we were in hardly anything more substantial that the every-day suit of a South African savage, the charcoal stoves set about in the tent, seemed to have very little effect on the temperature.

"In speaking our lines, the greatest care had to be exercised, in order not have the vapor from our breaths register on the film. This was avoided by inhaling, instead of exhaling the breath whenever we spoke.

When the picture was completed and run off in the Vitagraph Company's projecting room. I myself surprised at how comfortable we all seemen, and I am therefore not surprised that the public not knowing the disadvantages against which we worked, should imagine that performing in 'The Island of Regeneration' was all sport, in an atmosphere of sunshine and tropical fragrance."

RICHMOND ELKS TRIM OAKLAND COASTERS IN GREAT CONTEST

TEAM LAUDED BY MAYOR MR. LUCE ON JOB

Headed by the Richmond Concert band, a parade of more than 25 automobiles left Tenth street and Macdonald avenue at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The band was followed by Fire Chief Roy Lemoin in his big red machine. Lemoin was accompanied by William Luce, the handsome manager of the Elks. The Elks and Oaks in three machines came next, following which came machines carrying city officials and boosters. The parade was in charge of Bert Curry, Otto Dietrich and James Arnold.

At the grounds, the pennant bearing the words "Sichmond Elks, semi-pro champions, 1915" was raised, being hoisted by Mayor E. J. Garrard. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner," everyone in the park standing up.

City Attorney D. J. Hall then addressed the assembled gathering. "I want to thank the boys who play with the Richmond Elks for the splendid showing they have made tis year" said Hall "It is a great honor they have conferred on the city of Richmond and I am confident that I voice the sentiments of the entire city when I say that their efforts are fully apreciated. It is indeed a great compliment to the club and city, to know that the Richmond club has won game after game from clubs composed of imported players. The club should have the united moral and financial suport of the merchants of the city."

Following Hall Mayor Garrard spoke. He lauded the members of the team; stated that the city appreciated their wonderful showing and declared that they were entitled to the united support of the city.

William Luce refused to make a speech. However, Luce stood in the center of the diamond with bared head, while the assembled fans cheered. Some "crool" fan shouted, "put on your hat Bill, you're half dressed," and then Bill, becoming indignant refused to pose any longer.

The celebration was certainly a big success. The city as a result of the victory is enthusiastic, and at next Sunday's game it is expected that fully 1,500 will be in attendance.

BIGGER THEY ARE, HARDER THEY HIT EARTH

Bring on your Seals.

Bring on the world's champions.

It is customary for famous scribes in rendering an account of a really important event to pour into their article as many rare and unpronounceable adjectives, nouns, pronouns, etc., as Noah Webster will allow. This makes it almost impossible for the average reader to fathom and as a natural result the dear "booblic" is hypnotized as it were, and desiring to show their neighbors that they have a speaking acquaintance with Noahs every effort, they proceed to peruse the article with evident relish, remarking at frequent intervals "wonderful" Great", etc., and then at the conclusion inquiring of themselves whatinell it was all about.

So we crave the pardon of our 50,000 readers and pour out a tale which we are confident all can understand.

Now to get down to business.

First let us inform our readers that the Oaks are certainly entitled to the celler championship of the Pacific Coast League. Determined to impress upon our little city, the vast importance of a Coast League club, the gentlemen who draw pensions from the treasury of the Oakland Coast League club, drove into our fair city Surday. Then after a celebration in which some 1200 fans participated, the Richmond Elks, state champions and the Oakland Coast League champions assembled at the First street Park, sometimes referred to as Luce Park in honor of Mr. William Luce, the man who placed Richmond on the baseball map.

Bill Burns, long and wide, was announced as the moundsman for the champions from the city of putrid politics. Charlie Burns, youthful brother of the great Bill conducted the services from the center of the field for the semi-pro champions.

For three innings, William smiled in derision at the vain efforts of the Elks. He smiled when he allowed a certain young citizen of our fair city free passage to first and then promptly nabbed him off the bag with a quick throw to Ness "This is soft", thought William. Jack Ness, occupying quarters at first, who is not only long of figure but also long of beak, had a long smile across his long face. So did the rest of the gang from Oakland, famous for its Mayor and Auditorium.

But even celler champions can sometimes be trounced. And so it happened, Sunday. In the fourth inning the celebration really started. For three spasms, the Elks perished in one-two-three fashion. Bill had whiffed three of the local boys and not one had gathered anything that even looked like a safe smash.

But in the fourth, Bill began to believe that the Coast League wasn't such a great league after all. With Conger and Christianson, decorating first and second Wilhelm Cunningham, rival of the clam in vocal exhibitions and pal of the illustrous Irisher, Rod Murphy, strolled up to the plate.

"Wild Eyed Pete" the conductoor stationed in front of the bandstand, become excited. "A hit Cutey, a hit. Slam it over the fence. Show these tramps up," and Cutey standing majestically in the batters box, heeded. As William Burns, twisted his right foot around his neck in preparation to deliver a queer one, William Evangeline Cunningham, prepared to meet the oncomming pellet. Whether Bill had a date with the horsehide is not known but meet it he did. And straightway the ball set sail for a point between right and center field. To write a really professional account of the game it is necessary to imbue a few lines of poetry in this article. Therefore we apologize in advance to the late California bard, Mr. Jouquin Miller.

"It sailed and sailed as the winds might blow
"Until at last even the Biggest boob did know
A home run chalk was marked in Bill's H. R. row."

All of which means William Cunningham had sent that young baseball over the fence, and that the score read Oakland Coast League, Nothing; Richmond Three.

In the fifth, the Elks grabbed another tally wih he assisance of bingles by Rod Murphy and Conger.

Surprising even themselves the Oaks awoke from their slumber in the sixth and following a single by over the fence. The Elks scored Martin gathered in a pair of runs. When Pruitt plastered the ball one in their half of the seventh and wound up the proceedings in the eighth by gatifering in additional brace of tallies. A home run by Ness in theeighth gave the visitors their third final run.

Sunday's game impreseed upon the fans the strength of the local club. Even the great coast league stars, admitted that the score will bear on the truth of these statements. Not one error did the local boys make, and but six safety's were garnered off the delivery of Charles. The club played wonderful baseball.

A number of assembled fans demanded that Bill bring over the San Francisco club, the champions of the Coast League but this is impossible at the present time, as that club has practically disbanded for the season. The game put up by the Elks was remarkable. The boys played together like big leaguers and while de do not like to be too optimistic or too officious in the eyes of the Coast League supporters, yet we are willing toplace this opinion in cold type "THE ELKS THE EQUAL IF NOT THE PEER OF ANY CLUB IN THE COAST LEAGUE."

We know of a number of local fans who would be willing to back this remark up with cold cash.

Next Sunday the Elks will meet Oroville, champions of the Trolley league on the local park. Richmond fans have seen what the Elks can do to Coasters. Now let us see what we can do to the Trolly League Champions. There were 1,200 at Sunday's game. Let's have 1,500 at next Sunday's game.

CATCHER HAS HIS FINGER FRACTURED

Henry Schram, catcher for the Point Athletes took a foul tip on the right digit finger of his right hand in the game between the Points and Winehaven teams Sunday. The finger was fractured. The Athleteswere mauled all over the place, losing 12 to 1. The game between the Cubs of the Cheek Stable and the Woodmen of America was called off the boys attending the game at First street.

At a meeting Friday night, the four clubs will make arangements for a mid-winter league. It is probable that the league will start operations next Sunday.

BOY WALKS IN SLEEP FALLS AND IS INJURED

Clyde Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conn fell from the window of his parent's home 152 South Fifthe street Sunday night and was seriously injured. The boy was walking in his sleep. He was badly cut and shaken but his injuries are not considered fatal. He was removed to the Craven Hospital where his injuries were treated by Drs. C. L. Abbott and H. L. Carpenter.

WELL WHO IS TO GET HOOK NOW, DENNY?

We are waiting patiently to hear the regular weekly tidings that Denny J. Healey has bounced four or five members of the club. Healey's gang was trimmed Sunday by Sebastopol, 3 to 2. Petaluma evidently put up a wonderful exhibition, outhitting Sebastopol 10 hits to 4. Kremer was easy picking for the Eggville citizens but the Petalumans couldn't find the home plate.
